Situated high on the eastern edge of a mountain, this grand home possesses magnificent views from the alfresco area adjacent to the kitchen and living areas.

External stairs from the roadside allows visitors to enter directly into the interior of the home, giving a robust earthy look.

The residence also features children's bedrooms and play areas separate from the parents suite, and plenty of storage to accommodate the active family's sporting equipment.

As a result of forward planning, this home will fulfil the client's needs for many years to come.
